

JAMIE L. MAHNE
Vice President, Client Services & CCO

As The Energy Authority's vice president of client services and chief client officer, Jamie Mahne is responsible for growing, maintaining, and enhancing the strength of TEA's client base. He oversees all business development and client services activities and functions.

Mr. Mahne has over 20 years of experience in the energy industry across a diverse range of roles, including marketing, business development, customer relationship management, project management, and consulting services. His in-depth understanding of the needs of public power has helped drive many of TEA's strategic client services initiatives.

Before assuming his current role, Mr. Mahne most recently served TEA as a member services manager. His clients included American Municipal Power, Inc.; the City of Dover, Delaware; and the Prairie States Municipal Owners Group.

Prior to joining TEA, Mr. Mahne was an energy consultant for The Structure Group and a project engineer for Exxon Computing and Network Services. He has managed business integration projects for some of the largest merchant generators, retailers, and investor-owned utilities in the United States, helping participants integrate into most of the North American Regional Transmission Organizations (PJM, ISO-NE, NYISO, MISO, CAISO, ERCOT and SPP).

Mr. Mahne holds a master's degree in business administration and a bachelor's degree in communication from Mississippi State University.
